President Lays Broad Program Before Congress

Tax Cuts

"DEEP CONCERN" ON STRIKE MENACE

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—President Truman laid before congress today a broad program for economic prosperity with wages higher and prices lower than ever before in a world at peace.

The president combined with his state of the union message a budget calling for 35 billion, 860 million dollars—the first budget in 16 years that will not increase the national debt.

He renewed his request to congress to act swiftly to meet the threat of work stoppages and warned that if major strikes now in progress are not continued they will put a heavy brake on the reconversion program.

Continue Selective Service

Mr. Truman asked action "not later than March" to continue the selective service law to assure maintenance of an armed force of two million men, while allowing demobilization to proceed as rapidly as possible.

He called for continuance of rent and price controls until June 30, 1947, for food subsidies to prevent price increases, and for priorities on, and equitable distribution of, scarce materials.

The president declared that further tax reductions at this time would be "ill-advised."

He said the objective of United States policy is to bring about a

PA NEW CLOCK OBSERVES

PA New notices that once more the court house clock has resumed operations following a short rest, while the church clock on the public square still remains inactive.

Ashing crews were busy again today as snow fell steadily in the night and east winds were reported as a result of traffic conditions.

Some of today will probably hamper enjoyment of skating on the city rink on Mahoning avenue. For several days ice has been quite smooth and clear of snow, and many skaters enjoyed the outdoor sport.

After almost a month without snow, the weatherman got in a few good flakes last night, a two-inch fall of snow being noted this morning, with indications that it would continue during the day.

The fifth set of twins to be born at the Jameson Memorial hospital in the past two months, arrived there Saturday afternoon. This has helped to swell the population materially.

Most of the outdoor sports in this area, during the winter, are confined to the young, but not so with Clement Hazen, well-known local carpenter of 720 Butler avenue. Mr. Hazen, who is 72 years of age, has been spending his spare time, has been spending his spare time at the Cascade Park lake.

Highlights Of Truman's Message To Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Highlights of President Truman's state of the union-budget message to Congress follow:

Labor

Everyone who realizes the extreme need for a swift and orderly reconversion must feel a deep concern about the number of major strikes now in progress. If long continued, these strikes could put a heavy brake on our program. . . . We are relying on all concerned to develop, through collective bargaining, wage structures that are fair to labor, allow for necessary business incentives, and conform with a policy to hold the line on prices.

In view of the still extraordinarily large expenditures in the coming year and continuing inflationary pressures, I am making no recommendation for tax reduction at this time.

Price Controls

If we expect to maintain a steady economy we shall have to maintain price and rent control for many months to come. . . . unless the price control act is renewed there will be no limit to which our price levels would soar. Our country would face a national disaster.

Business Outlook And Employment

In general the outlook for business is good, and it is likely to continue good—provided we control inflation and achieve peace in management-labor relations. Civilian production and employment can be

The letter, read to party leaders by Assembly Chairman Felix Gaudin, said:

Congress Plan In Strike Crisis Being Discussed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The house labor committee today opened a crucial two-day executive session which may largely determine the course to be taken in the face of mounting strikes.

The committee will clear its decks for a vote tomorrow on the president's fact-finding bill by disposing of the 14-day trans-Atlantic crossing on a tiny, gate-tossed fruit steamer.

Questioned on her future plans the Virginia-born viscountess responded: "I may run for Congress—what do you think of that?"

She and Lord Astor will remain in New York for a few days and plan to visit in Lynchburg, Va., Baltimore, Boston and Florida before returning to Britain two months hence.

The labor committee prepared to act with the knowledge that if it failed to report on legislation, the house military affairs committee would move to obtain a vote on its own labor bill.

This is the May-Arends bill, now pending on the house calendar, which repeals the war labor disputes act, deprives unions which violate no-strike pledges of their collective bargaining rights and bars financial participation in federal elections by labor organizations.

The house voted Dec. 11 to postpone consideration of the measure pending hearings by the labor committee, but Rep. May (D) Ky., military affairs committee chairman, said his group would press for another vote if the labor group failed to act tomorrow.

Annual Budget Message Is Sent Congress Today

Calls For 35 Billion And 800
Million Dollars For Coming Fiscal Year

WILL NOT INCREASE NATIONAL DEBT

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—President Truman submitted his annual budget to congress today calling for government spending of 35 billion, 800 million dollars under a program which, for the first time in 16 years, will not require any increase in the national debt.

Mr. Truman coupled his recommendations with the admonition that congress should make no move to further reduce taxes.

Not Time To Reduce Taxes

The president said: "This is not the time for tax reduction."

The budget itself represented a major departure from previous government practice in that it carried spending estimates for parts of the president's legislative program which might not yet have been approved by congress.

In the budget portion of his combined message, covering the government's fiscal program for the 12 months beginning July 1, Mr. Truman included three billion 500 million dollars in expenditures for programs still awaiting congressional approval.

With this figure, government outgo during the 1947 fiscal year will total 35 billion, 800 million dollars, government revenues under present

Filibuster Is In Third Day

Southern Democrats In Senate Keep Up Filibuster
On F. E. P. B.—Showdown Near

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The Senate squandered off for a sluggish match today between filibustering southern Democrats and backers of the administration's fair employment practices bill.

The filibuster moved into its third day with no signs of weakening by the southerners in the face of the FEPC forces threat to keep the Senate in continuous 24-hour session until the talk-test is broken.

Republican ranks showed the only signs of a rift in the line-up behind the bill.

The minority conference postponed approval of a proposal by Sens. Morse (S. Ore.) and Ball (R. Minn.) for 24-hour sessions, in favor of daily adjournment at 6 p. m.

A subcommittee was appointed to study the proposal for 24-hour meetings and report its findings Wednesday.

It seemed doubtful whether FEPC backers could in favor of all-night sessions in view of the Republican conference decision.

If the filibuster continued for several days this week, however, it seemed likely that continuous sessions would win out.

Seek To Nominate Van Zandt For Lieut. Governor

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars today spearheaded a drive to assure Comm. James E. Van Zandt, of Altoona, the lieutenant governor's nomination on the Republican organization's 1946 election slate.

Van Zandt, a World War I veteran, represented Blair, Centre and Clearfield counties in congress from 1933 until he was summoned for duty by the navy and commissioned lieutenant (S. G.) in May, 1941.

A VFW spokesman said the organization hoped to swing sufficient support to assure Van Zandt's nomination for lieutenant governor in the primary election May 21. He indicated nominating papers would be circulated shortly after secure signatures.

Treaty Action May Be Delayed

LONDON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Uncertainty existed among the big four foreign ministers' deputies today as to whether the French political crisis precipitated by the resignation of Gen. Charles De Gaulle would delay the drafting of the Italian peace treaty.

It was pointed out that although under the Moscow agreement France participates in drawing up the treaty, the French viewpoint might be altered by possible changes in the French government.

Reconversion Head Warns On Inflation

John W. Snyder Tells Congress Nation Must Hold
Line On Prices Now

NEXT YEAR OR TWO CRUCIAL TO TWO

By WILLIAM UMSTEAD
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Reconversion Director John W. Snyder warned congress today that the nation must increase rapidly its production and hold the line on prices to prevent threatening inflation.

In a 72-page report on the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion Snyder described 1946 as "a year for bold decisions."

"What we do in the next year or two will in a large measure determine whether or not we can avoid another 1929 collapse. We cannot afford an economic Pearl Harbor."

The reconversion director warned that large-scale labor disputes in key industries "would directly and intimately affect the welfare of the country as a whole."

Delay Reconversion

"A general work stoppage in automobiles, steel, coal mining or oil production, for example, would seriously delay the pace of reconversion."

Snyder said that prospects for 1946 show that "no matter what levels of production are reached, accumulated demands will greatly exceed supplies of many materials and products."

"The consequent danger of inflation threatens the stability of the entire American economy."

The reconversion director told congress that "it is imperative that we have in the near future an extension of price control authority beyond June 30."

He said that unless authority granted under the second war power

No Compulsion To End Strikes Says Truman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—President Truman told congress today that labor and management must make their own peace without compulsion from government.

Against the background of a national steel strike, the president said in his annual message on the state of the union:

"Industrial peace between management and labor will have to be achieved—through the process of collective bargaining—with government assistance but not government compulsion."

The statement was in line with the president's views against seizure of the steel companies to end a walkout which boosted strike idleness along the reconversion front more than one million 600 thousand workers.

Mr. Truman agreed, however, that government can assist in the attainment of industrial harmony and for this purpose reiterated his recommendation for statutory fact-finding boards, armed with subpoena powers and supported by 30-day "cooling off" periods before strikes.

Pittsburgh Is Strike Capital In Steel Battle

Murray And Aides Direct Steel
Strike From Headquarters
In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The nation's steel capital today became the nation's strike capital as CIO officials directed activities of more than 750,000 striking United Steelworkers.

From the Steelworkers' national headquarters in a squat downtown Pittsburgh office building, Union President Philip Murray and his aides map the plans and moves which forced 1,292 of the industry's plants to cease operations.

From Murray's large, carpet-covered office came the orders directing the policy of the union's 37 district leaders and 1,200 local presidents throughout the country.

Murray, who arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday from Washington, has already scheduled a number of meetings for this week, in addition to his press conferences.

On Tuesday he will meet with the Steelworkers Negotiating committee in his own offices.

On Wednesday he has scheduled two meetings at the nearby Keystone hotel. The first is with the International Executive board, the second with his wage policy committee.

Howard Covert, R. D. 5, who has been confined to his home with illness, is able to be about again.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—(INS)—President Truman called in his steel fact-finding board to the White House today in a further effort to find some solution to the nation-wide steel strike.

Just what steps the board might take were not indicated. The panel had not made its investigation and therefore reached no conclusions before the steel strike.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross said the President asked the steel panel to come in to "talk over the situation."

(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—

The long-threatened nationwide steel strike went into effect today, precipitating the greatest single walkout in American history.

The strike began officially at 12:01 o'clock this morning.

Approximately 750,000 steel workers in thirty states quit work. They are demanding a substantial wage increase.

Reconversion dropped to low gear because steel is recognized as the key to America's economic supremacy.

The huge steel mills concentrated in the greater Pittsburgh area were completely shut down.

Picket lines formed around plants in the snowy, slushy weather, but there was no violence, no undue excitement.

The strike got off to an orderly start.

Police Murray, president of the CIO United Steelworkers of America, was in Pittsburgh to supervise the strike from national headquarters.

The strike had a far-reaching effect. It not only closed the nation's honor of directing will succeed in the task remaining to be accomplished to assure the destiny of the country.

Socialist Likely

Georges Zerbini, chief of cabinet to assembly chairman, Felix Gouin, predicted that "nine chances out of ten" the new French president would be a socialist. Leaders of the various parties will attempt before the assembly session to agree upon De Gaulle's successor.

The volatile De Gaulle, whose third resignation in three months climaxed an assembly fight over military appropriations, announced through his secretary that his decision was "irrevocable" and that he was "retiring from political life."

Political observers believed the choice of De Gaulle's successor lay between Communist leader, Maurice Thorez, and Socialist state minister, Vincent Auriol, with Edouard Herriot, a radical moderate, as a possible compromise candidate.

The combined Communist-Socialist strength was expected to block any candidate advanced by the Republican popular movement, the De Gaulle party.

ers act is extended beyond the present termination date, the government will find itself unable to take positive action to break production bottlenecks, spread construction and combat critical shortages. He warned:

Will Be Hampered

"The result will be to hamper the reconversion program very seriously."

Snyder declared that price controls "remain our only bulwark against inflation until production can increase sufficiently to balance demand." He said that "if people thought" price control would end June 30, compliance and enforcement "would deteriorate some time before that date." He added:

"I urge congress to act promptly to forestall any possibility of a breakdown in price control. The very knowledge that price ceilings will not end will be a powerful stabilizing force."

The reconversion chief asserted that the basic need at present to meet inflationary pressures and rising unemployment is more production.

Hold Back Inflation

Snyder said that the nation must match its tremendous war production with all-out peacetime output to hold back inflation.

He warned that "all the underlying causes that brought about inflation 25 years ago are with us again now, in accentuated form."

He then stated:

"There has never been a moment in the history of this country when so few individuals or groups stood to gain from inflation and when so many would be permanently injured."

Snyder said he could not predict when production "will be sufficient to end the serious threat of inflation."

He described the housing shortage as "one of the greatest problems of the reconversion period." He said housing is "our most serious shortage," and declared:

"Inflationary pressures in the field of housing are the most menacing in our economy."

Snyder expressed little hope for relief in the housing shortage. He said "nothing less than several years of peak construction can solve the housing problem."

Despite the threat of inflation, Snyder declared that "we find ourselves, at the beginning of 1946, in an economic position that is generally favorable." He said American industries "are on the threshold of mass production of peacetime goods."

"We have reason to be pleased with the progress of reconversion thus far. We have moved rapidly; we have passed through the initial shock of the change-over without allowing disrupting forces to gain the ascendancy."

Snyder also expressed belief that unemployment in the country will rise.

expected to increase throughout the next year. This does not mean, however, that continuing full employment is assured. It is probable that demobilization of the armed forces will proceed faster than the increase in civilian employment opportunities. Even if substantial forces are withdrawn from the labor market, unemployment will increase temporarily.

Demobilization

The cessation of active campaigning does not mean that we can completely disband our fighting forces. I wish that we could. But we still have the task of clinching the victories we have won—of making certain that Germany and Japan can never again wage aggressive warfare.

As quickly as possible we are bringing about the reduction of our armed forces to the size required for these tasks of occupation and disarmament.

Inflation

Along with the extraordinary demand there are still at this time many critical shortages resulting from the war. These extraordinary demands and shortages may lead to a speculative boom. Therefore, our chief worry still is inflation. The possibility of a deflationary spiral in the future will exist unless we now plan and adopt an effective full employment program.

Foreign Economic Policy

The foreign economic policy of the United States is designed to promote our own prosperity, and at the same time to aid in the restoration and expansion of world markets and to contribute thereby to world peace and world security. We shall continue our efforts to provide relief from the devastation of war, to alleviate the sufferings of displaced persons, to assist in the reconstruction and development, and to promote expansion of world trade.

Germany And Japan

We are determined that effective control shall be maintained in Germany until we are satisfied that the German people have regained the right to a place of honor and respect in the United States, with the full approval of its partners, has retained primary authority and primary responsibility for control of Japan. It will continue to do so until the Japanese people, by their own freely expressed choice, change their own form of government.

Atomic Bomb

I believe it possible that effective means can be developed through the United Nations organization to prohibit, outlaw, and prevent the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes.

United Nations And Smaller States In Peace

We have solemnly dedicated ourselves and all our will to the success of the United Nations Organization. For this reason we have sought to insure in the peacemaking the smaller nations shall have a voice as well as the larger states.

Social Security

We need social security in the fullest sense of the term. The people must be protected from the fear of want during old age, sickness, and unemployment. Opportunities for a good education and adequate medical care must be generally available. Every family should have a recent home.

Foreign Policy

The great and dominant objective of the United States foreign policy is to build and preserve a just peace. The peace we seek is not peace for twenty years. It is permanent peace.

Firemen Honor Dead On Sunday

Tribute Paid To Memory Of Those Who Have Passed On At Special Services

New Castle firemen honored the memory of those members of the department who have passed on during the years at special memorial services conducted in the Second U. P. church Sunday evening.

Only one fireman passed away during the year. He was Edwin M. Jessell, World War 2 veteran.

There was a large attendance of the firemen and their friends, who heard Rev. J. Calvin Rose, the pastor, deliver a stirring sermon on the subject, "The Losses in the Night." He paid tribute to the bravery and faithfulness of the men who serve the public as firemen.

Special music was given during the service by the choir and the director, David M. Jones, the memorial prayer of the firemen being sung at the close of the service.

Rev. E. C. Travis, Missionary To French Indo-China, Gives Insight To Foreign Work

In the absence of Dr. Alexander Kemp, medical missionary to Africa, Rev. E. C. Travis, missionary under the Christian Missionary Alliance Board, to French Indo-China, addressed the bi-weekly meeting of the New Castle Ministerium, meeting in session, Monday morning in the First Presbyterian church, North Jefferson at Falls street.

Travis gave a panorama view of the work of his society in French Indo-China, revealing the hunger that exists there for the Gospel message that he and his co-workers preach.

Devotional period for the session was in charge of Rev. K. T. Yahn, pastor of the Wampum Methodist church.

Announcement was made of the annual ministers' wives banquet to be held in the First Methodist church on February 11. Reports of the clothing drive committee was made by Rev. A. E. Simon and Dr. J. J. McIlwaine. Rev. Russell Schlinger was announced as the hospital chaplain for the week.

GREATEST STEEL STRIKE IS BEGUN AT MIDNIGHT

basic steel industry but also fabricating, bauxite and ore mines and some part of the aluminum industry.

Steel workers who were due to report at midnight for the first shift today simply did not report for work.

They came out to picket, instead.

Some Premature Walkouts

Premature walkouts involving some 53,000 men had taken place the previous 24 to 48 hours. Of this number, 20,000 were in the Pittsburgh district, notably at the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation's Steel Corporation's Pittsburgh and Aliquippa works.

Reporters touring the Duquesne McKeesport, Homestead and Braddock steel producing districts found little activity Sunday morning around the normally bustling mills.

Maintenance men kept fires burning and pumps operating to avoid damage to furnaces and other equipment.

Otherwise everything was orderly. Pickets assigned to the "first shift" (the last midnight deadline) took their posts as zero hour struck.

Pickets Identified

They carried small cards bearing the word "picket." Some "trapped" the cards on as arm bands, others wore them in their hands.

They brought along improvised coal- and wood-burning "stoves," fashioned from steel drums, to protect themselves from the cold.

Coffee and doughnut trucks came out to the plants to serve the pickets. There were no attempts to cross the picket lines and the police had little to do but stand around and watch.

The dead stop of work in the steel mills had a depressing effect in business circles in the Pittsburgh district.

No other section of the country was so immediately or so vitally affected by the walkout as the Pittsburgh area, where about one-quarter of the nation's steel is produced.

It was a strange sight to see no puffs of smoke rising from the many steel plants that dot the Pittsburgh district.

Other lines of business are expected to be quickly and adversely affected by the strike.

Some Plants Operate

But as grim quietness gripped the steel producing regions, five plants of three major companies continued working.

The three companies whose workers have repulsed CIO organizing efforts were Mesta Machine Company, West Homestead, Pa., Weirton Steel Company, Weirton, W. Va., and Steubenville, O., and the American Rolling Mill Company, Butler, Pa., and Middletown, O.

Leaders of the Weirton independent union, representing 10,000 workers, emphasized they would balk at efforts to halt work.

The Mesta workers poured into the plant this morning without any signs of pickets.

It was reported that at Weirton more than 200 ex-servicemen, who have returned to work in the mill, have volunteered to serve as deputy sheriffs if trouble starts.

State foreign policy is to build and preserve permanent peace and to dedicate the nation to the success of the United Nations organization.

President Truman affirmed his belief that effective means can be developed through U. N. O. to prevent the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes.

The president explained that the budgetary program and the general program of the government are inseparable.

In his budget recommendations, the president estimated the federal income for the fiscal year 1947 at $1 billion, 500 million dollars.

He proposed that the excess of four billion, 300 millions in expenditures be covered by deductions from the treasury cash balance, thus involving no increase in the national debt.

The combined state of the union budget message is the lengthiest

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Offhand Answers By Truman Cause Problems

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Three times President Truman has spoken hastily and extemporaneously on questions of far-reaching international importance, and each time the echoes of misunderstanding have bounced back and forth from one side of the world to the other.

The first occasion, which was also the most serious, was at Reelfoot lake in Tennessee, when he announced that the United States would keep the "secret" of the atomic bomb. The second was his announcement that there would be more big three meetings and that all international matters, including the peace settlements, would be left to the United Nations.

The third remark was made at his last press conference, when he said that we would keep the bases in the Pacific that were needed for our own purposes. That, at any rate, was what he said in response to the first question concerning U. S. policy on trusteeships for bases and mandated territories.

It might have stood like that if a veteran correspondent, Raymond P. Brandt of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, had not brought the discussion back to trusteeships. Then the president added that we would ask the United Nations to approve our individual trusteeship over certain islands that we considered necessary for our own defense system.

Seek Clarification
The following day, there was a clamor from Congress and from London for a clarification of what the president had actually meant. This is understandable. The president, under press-conference rules, cannot be quoted directly, so what he says is always paraphrased.

Then a story was whipped up suggesting that a group of senators were determined that the United Nations should not have the right to say whether the United States was to be allowed to exercise solitary trusteeships over bases that we might consider strategic. To put it another way, they would deny UNO even the face-saving device of approving our request.

This, according to the news story, was the same group of senators who went out to the United Nations conference in San Francisco to make such American bases non-internationalized. A subcommittee of the Senate naval affairs committee, it includes Senators Tobey and Capehart, Republicans, and Senators Byrd and Eastland, Democrats.

The fact is, however, that not all of the group hold to this view. Senator Tobey, a forthright New Hampshireman with the courage of his convictions, says:

Would Make Sacrifices
"While I went to San Francisco with the other senators and felt it highly desirable and important that we should retain the islands we had taken with our forces, yet because of my deep yearning for world peace and my hope that the successful operation of UNO may implement that objective, I would be willing to make almost any reasonable sacrifice to that end. Therefore, I would not oppose any treaty because of island control."

Of the other three senators, Capehart take an extreme nationalist position on most issues. So does Eastland. Byrd, an ultra-conservative of any kind with our sole possession of the Jap-mandated islands that our forces conquered.

Troically enough, it is from men who think like this that the most angry criticism of the Senate naval affairs committee, it includes Senators Tobey and Capehart, Republicans, and Senators Byrd and Eastland, Democrats.

Some confusion might have been avoided if President Truman had issued a prepared statement. This would have left no doubt as to his meaning. It was known beforehand that the question would come up.

The institution of the press conference has been compared to the question hour in the House of Commons, when members of the government are quizzed. But the British prime minister and his cabinet do not give offhand answers to parliament. Replies are carefully thought out in advance, especially when they touch upon world issues.

When the storm-battered aircraft carrier Wasp arrived in New York the other day, 5,630 happy veterans just back from the European war theatre, cheered loudly as she pulled in to her slip.

But the happiest of all was Sgt. Arthur Van Felt of Staten Island, N. Y., who spied his fiancée on the dock waiting for him, and set up a cry of "Eleanor! Eleanor!"

Soon all the returning soldiers took up the shout, and "Eleanor! Eleanor!" rang loudly over the pier. But Eleanor—Eleanor Willshaw, 22-year-old Red Cross worker—was completely oblivious of the bedlam. Jubilantly she jumped and screamed with joy, and arm in arm the two walked off together.

There, in this little episode, there was more significance than in all the news you read in the papers these days—and most of the news is not very encouraging.

Eleanor and Arthur were not one bit concerned with strikes and re-conversion, with atomic bombs or inflation.

All they knew and cared about was that the war was over, that Arthur was back, and a new life was waiting for them, that the past was dead and a happy future—made happy by their own efforts—lay ahead.

Why can't we all learn something from these two?

Why can't all of us think more of the happiness that is in store if we will only do our part to grasp it while it is ours?

I think that happiness is a selling job. I think that our statesmen and politicians and our economists and our industrial leaders—yes, and our union leaders, too—should take less about billions and world problems and abstract theories and pay more attention to the human problems of life.

Just last week I read a story about tax reduction—all told in meaningless billions of dollars.

But nothing was said about how much your taxes and mine would be reduced—how much more pounds of milk, how many more pairs of stockings we could buy.

Human beings don't think in such terms. Generalities sound fine. Each individual is primarily interested in his own life, his own happiness, his own troubles and joys.

Eleanor didn't ever hear the shouts of the five thousand soldiers.

But her own boy's cries meant all the world to her.

That world was Eleanor and Arthur—not Moscow conferences or the troubles in Iran and China.

I suggest that we stop thinking of millions of people and billions of dollars.

Whenever I write my column, I imagine that I am writing it just like a letter to one person.

If Jim Smith and Bob Jones sat down at a table and discussed their problems man to man, just as man and wife or mother and son iron out their difficulties, there would be fewer strikes, more production—and much more happiness in this world.

Astronomers say the planet Venus has turned green on three occasions recently. But not with envy, surely, of the earth!

There is a very unusual man in Greenleaf. He refuses to indulge in any of the various and sometimes heated arguments regarding the atomic bomb for the reason, of all things, that he knows no more about the atomic bomb than a hog does about Sunday—Greenleaf, Kan., Sentinel.

Many women write complaints to me that their dates aren't sufficiently attentive—that they get sidetracked leaving them to make their own good times. A man may have the good looks of a movie idol, the wealth of a Midas, but he will soon lose all popularity with the opposite sex.

Here are some of the masculine annoyances of which women complain:

Talking business with other men over their heads.

Deserting from between dances without first knowing whether the next dance is a sure thing.

Of course, a man is not required to dance with his date only. He may, correctly, circulate among his friends, but he should make no arrangement to dance with anyone else unless his date also has the dance taken.

Table visiting in cafes. A man who knows anything about feminine psychology will never for a moment leave a woman stranded at their table while he visits with other friends. He will either arrange to have these friends sit at his table or merely nod to his friends and remain at his own table with the woman he is escorting. Feminine jealousy does not enter into the situation. Women simply do not wish to be embarrassed by the appearance of neglect or indifference.

A gentleman will abide by all of these rules—whether the woman is his wife or merely the most casual acquaintance.

Republicans To Take Lead In Legislation
Two Important Matters Being Considered
Fair Work Act And Anti-Discrimination Up

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Republicans in Congress are expected to take the ball away from the Democrats on at least two pieces of important legislation which have been pending for some time.

Both parties are on record favoring enactment of a federal anti-discrimination law and establishment of a permanent fair employment practices commission. However, the majority party has been blocked by opposition of southern legislators.

During the current session of Congress, Republican Minority Leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts hopes to get action in the House, and Senator Joseph Bell (R.) of Minnesota plans to push the bills through the Senate.

Minorities throughout the nation are interested in the legislation, and it may have some effect on the coming Congressional elections.

Recall Truman Article
When President Truman took office, there was a great scurrying in the Navy department brass hat section for copies of an article he wrote while he was a senator in 1916 which criticized the navy for its stodgy ways.

The article appeared in a national magazine in August 1916, but the navy paid little attention to it because the late President Roosevelt favored the navy.

When Mr. Truman took over high-ranking officers in the navy re-read the article because they knew that there would be a move for a merger of the armed forces.

The navy started a campaign immediately to oppose the merger and kept it up until the chief executive sent his recent message to Congress favoring it.

Publicly now the navy cannot oppose its "commander-in-chief," although they still hope to get enough public sympathy that may cause Congress to amend proposed legislation so it will not be too unfavorable to the sailors.

At least one commercial airline estimates the average weight of its women passengers at 165 pounds. But the women aren't insulted. In fact they are grateful.

Officials of the Delta Airlines decided they would like to abolish the question "How much do you weigh?" They hit on the idea of estimating the average weight of men and women passengers at 165 pounds. Now they weigh only the luggage. Other airlines are expected to follow suit.

Byrnes Wins Russians
Associates of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes say that he won the admiration of the Russians when he appeared in Moscow recently wearing a fairly lightweight topcoat over his business suit.

It was no oversight on Byrnes' part. In fact, every member of the party was equipped with a duffel bag filled with Arctic clothing of the type issued to troops. However, Byrnes left his in Washington.

Actually, Byrnes did not suffer too much, except during the one period he was forced to stand on the blizzard-swept Moscow airport to shake hands with the welcoming committee.

The big C-54 transport in which Byrnes and his assistants made the trip was well heated. In Moscow he rode in a heated limousine, and most of the work was done inside the embassy.

Transporting perishables by air is expected to develop into a large and profitable industry during this year and next.

Only obstacles faced by commercial lines interested in the venture are development of a good refrigeration plant and air-weathering. Both of these are expected to be tackled in the near future.

The aircraft industry is working on several cargo planes which will be nothing more than flying "ice boxes." Installation of radar equipment in commercial flying planes is expected to beat the weather.

Fast refrigerator plane service makes it possible to deliver from growing centers ripe tomatoes and other vegetables and fruits in perfect condition to almost any part of the country—and within a few hours.

What People Say

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—President Truman. "All our efforts to avoid this steel strike have up to now failed. A strike in the steel industry will be felt in practically every major industry in the United States. It will stall our attempts to establish a sound economy to which our veterans can return."

WASHINGTON—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. "Together we have won a great victory. It will become glorious if we are able to make it the last one we need to win."

LONDON—Ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko, head of the Soviet UNO delegation: "The United Nations organization must differ from the League of Nations not only the sense that it must be an effective instrument capable of defending the interest of peaceful life of the peoples, but also it must be a new body in the sense that in there should prevail a sound atmosphere and new methods of collective work."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

YOUNG SOCIAL OFFENDERS

All parents have reason to be gravely concerned about the growing prevalence of juvenile delinquency and crime.

A message from President Truman read before the recent convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police included this: "As guardians of the peace, you are faced with grave problems. Perhaps the most alarming is the increase in juvenile delinquency."

Sharp Increase

A special committee of the association, from its survey of cities, reported a sharp increase in juvenile delinquency and crime since last May. As quoted in the New York Times: "Boys over 10 and under 16, and girls between 16 and 21 are the age groups causing most concern. Among boys, petty larceny, burglary, runaways, car thefts, disorderly conduct and malicious mischief are the prevalent offenses."

The offenses most common among girls are runaways, sex offenses, petty larceny, incorrigibility, truancy and disorderly conduct.

"The greatest increase in arrests in boys under 21 are noted in criminal homicide, rape and other felonious assaults, such arrests increasing 23.8 per cent during the first half of 1945, as compared with the same period of 1944."

F. B. I. Report

Speaking before that convention, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, reported that some of the most despicable offenses are committed by juvenile delinquents that the arrests of girls under 18 have increased 198 per cent since 1939, that over the same period the arrests of boys under 18 have increased 48 per cent for homicide, 70 per cent for rape, 39 per cent for robbery, 72 per cent for assault, 55 per cent for auto thefts and 101 per cent for drunkenness and driving while intoxicated.

From all one can gather, these youthful criminals come from all social, educational and economic levels. So also do the forerunners of such crimes among children and youth—vandalism and all sorts of disregard for the rights of others. No longer can parents who live in comfortable homes and areas assume that delinquency and crime are nearly all "on the other side of the tracks."

Right Side! Arrests

On the contrary, the prevalence of arrests of youth "on this side of the tracks" and of anti-social conduct which more often leads to arrests on the "other side" appears as the thing to be most concerned about. With so many children living in comfortable homes with parents of more than average income and education, what should we expect of less-privileged children?

While even parents can't hope to do so much as might be desired to improve the conduct of most youngsters now in their teens, parents of babies in arms, toddlers and runaways holders and due regard for the rights of others, the want of such desirable home discipline which results in juvenile delinquency and crime.

The more opportunities we parents have the more responsible we are for the delinquency or the good citizenship of the whole community. My special bulletin, "How Juvenile Delinquency Can Be Curbed," may be had in a stamped envelope by addressing me at 235 East 43rd Street, New York City.

Looking ahead, young parents with education and opportunity should be making sure right now that their children are learning wholesome inhibitions, respect for the rights of others and due regard for constituted authority. By the want of such desirable home discipline which results in juvenile delinquency and crime.

THE STOMACH

No matter how many different kinds of food are taken into the stomach, the digestive organs are able to sort them and take care of them properly.

There are several different kinds of protein but they are all utilized. Sugars and starches are called carbohydrates.

There are many kinds of these too but they are all taken care of. All of the many kinds of fats are cared for and sent to their proper places.

While all this process of digestion is going on, a drug may be taken into the stomach and its effect may be promptly felt in the eye, the skin, a finger, a toe or even the stomach itself.

Protein is provided in meat, eggs and milk products. Carbohydrates are supplied by sugars, vegetables, fruits and cereals. Fat comes in meat, butter, cream, nuts and oils.

The stomach can care for these various foods either together or separately.

The atomic bomb may be wonderful, but the little old stomach is no slouch.

Where The Justices Belong

President Truman's order, enabling Justice Jackson to designate a deputy prosecutor for the Nuernberg war criminal trials and return to his judicial duties in Washington, recognizes the place where the jurist belongs and is most needed.

Justice Jackson has rendered valuable service at the trials, but he was by no means the indispensable man for the job. At the time of his Nuernberg assignment the hope was widely expressed that this would not constitute a precedent for drafting other members of the Supreme Court for different forms of public service.

His prolonged absence has delayed the business of the court, since it was found necessary to defer argument on three important cases. In recent years the tribunal has managed to keep fairly even with its docket, but this condition will not prevail if the personnel is reduced to the extent of even one member for any length of time.

It is difficult to visualize any official task absolutely demanding the temporary separation of a Supreme Court justice from the bench. The Jackson incident has conveyed a lesson to be heeded in the future.

Transocean Flying

It comes as a rather rude shock to those who looked forward to the day when a hop from New York to Paris would be little more exciting than a transcontinental flight to learn that there is considerable more to trans-Atlantic flying than meets the eye.

With the announcement by Pan-American Airways that it is prepared to fly passengers from New York to Marseilles for $295 comes the protest from the French Ministry of Transport that the price is too low and that it will never agree to daily flights on such a basis. Great Britain, too, has voiced opposition to frequent flights at low cost.

Romance and fear of transocean flying went by the boards during the war as hundreds of thousands made the hop which, less than twenty years ago, was considered a world-shattering adventure. Plane after plane sat down in Scotland or later at Orly Field in Paris knocking good American mud off its tires as the wheels hit the runways of Europe. The return trip against adverse winds, once a dread performance, was accomplished with the same ease. Naturally travelers hoped to see that sort of thing continue.

Now it appears that transocean flying is to be bound up in the red tape of international agreements plus national restrictions instead of the wide-open field that is so much to be desired. Unless there is open competition between nations and further competition between companies within those nations the knowledge gained and advances made during the last five years will go for naught.

The Same For All

Despite Justice Jackson's effort to establish the principle that membership in an enemy organization that conducted criminal activities should be sufficient to convict a German charged with war crimes, there will be no attempt to proceed on that theory in Japan. This decision was announced by a spokesman at General MacArthur's headquarters.

The charter governing the Japanese war trials, said the spokesman, will require the prosecution to prove each defendant guilty of a specific criminal act. It will not be enough to show that he was a member of the Japanese general staff, or the "Thought Police," or even, apparently, the notorious Black Dragon Society. Nor will it be enough to establish negligence—failure to take steps that might have helped prevent war.

The purpose will be to bring home to the Japanese people the personal responsibility of those compelled to stand trial.

Commando Kelly Joins Protest On Rapido Attack

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21—(INS)—Congressional Medal of Honor winner Charles E. "Commando" Kelly today said he couldn't blame his buddies of the 36th Division for condemning Lt. Gen. Mark Clark, commander of the Fifth Army, for ordering the disastrous Rapido engagement, January 20 and 21, 1944.

Himself a survivor of the ill-fated military maneuver, Kelly said it was the bloodiest of all his campaigns in Italy. It was his gallant fighting at Rapido which won him the Silver Star.

In a reunion at Brownwood, Tex., Saturday, members of the unit adopted almost unanimously a resolution calling for a congressional investigation of the battle which they claimed cost the lives of 2,900 men.

Kelly, attached to the 143rd Infantry, recalled:

"When we started across the river our men were cut to pieces. There were numerous bodies, arms and legs floating down the swift current. We only had three rubber boats for our entire battalion. The boats could only take three men at a time."

"It was a frontal attack and that was a mistake. The enemy knew what we were going to do. I think it should have been a flank attack. In this way the casualties would have been much lower, I believe."

"I can't blame the boys for protesting, but what's the use of asking for an investigation. Those brave boys who fell in that fight won't come back."

COMFORTABLE BALANCE

As the commissioners get under way with the expenditures of 1946, the cash balance on hand is a comfortable one, not as large as some in previous years have been but plenty for the first of the year and the time the taxes start coming in in July.
Starting 1946 the commissioners had a balance of $164,463.31. The county taxes were doubled to make the levy five mills. Starting 1946 the cash in hand is $216,280.71.
During 1945 it was estimated the receipts would be $563,501.01. The actual receipts were $559,972.53. (Including the balance.) The expenditures were estimated at $509,551. The actual expenditures were $340,601.82. All figures are from the office of County Controller Andrew W. Dodds.
The commissioners have in mind several improvements in the court house during the year but even at that, with the balance on hand it seems unlikely that any tax increase will be made this year.

VETERANS SHOULD REGISTER
Some of the veterans returning home from the war have the idea that because they voted overseas, they are register to vote in the coming election. It is true in the case of a veteran who voted before going into service and whose family notified the registration bureau of his service.
In the case of veterans who reached their majority while in service and voted upon military ballots they must register to vote as civilians. This year is an important election, and the registration lists close late in March.

It is suggested that those who have never registered in the court house before, do so soon. Those who voted before going into service should check the lists to be sure they are still registered.

HAVEN'T LIFTED COMMISSIONS
Six justices of the peace elected last November have not yet lifted the commissions in the office of prothonotary and clerk of courts John A. Edgar.

law will aggregate 31 billion, 500 million, with an indicated deficit of four billion, 300 million dollars.

If the budget had been based on programs actually approved by congress it would have been within one billion dollars of being in balance. The White House "hopes" that a balanced budget will be achieved next year.

Decrease National Debt
The chief executive forecast an actual decrease in the present 278 billion dollar national debt during the coming 18 months. By June 30, 1946, he estimated, the national debt will be reduced to 275 billions, while a year from that date it will be reduced to approximately 271 billions.

Mr. Truman informed congress that the national debt would be reduced by using cash in the treasury to redeem some maturing obligations. Under this process, the treasury's present cash balance of 26 billion dollars will be reduced to three billion, 200 million dollars by June 30, 1947.

The government's spending program includes national defense outlays of 15 billion dollars by the army, navy and other federal agencies; four billion, 200 million for veterans pensions and benefits, and five billion to pay the interest on the national debt.

Costs of occupation, demobilization and national defense will amount to 42 per cent of federal spending during the 1947 fiscal year with "aftermath of war" costs accounting for another 30 per cent.

Mr. Truman commented that 15 billions for defense spending in a year which begins 10 months after victory "is a large sum". He added, however:

"Immense Job"
"This estimate reflects the immense job that is involved in winding up a global war effort and stresses the great responsibility that victory has placed upon this country."

He cited these large expenditures as another reason for the need of further economy and efficiency in governmental operations, and estimated that the total cost of the war by the end of the 1947 fiscal year will amount to 347 billion dollars.

In presenting the budget, Mr. Truman informed congress:

"We have cut the war program to the maximum extent consistent with national security. We have held our peacetime programs to the level necessary to our national well-being and the attainment of our post-war objectives."

"I can assure the congress of the necessity of these programs. I can further assure the congress that the program as a whole is well within our capacity to finance it."

The budget figures were based on an estimated 140 billions in national income payments during the coming fiscal year. For the first time the message was drawn up to reflect in part, the projected budget of the entire nation, as proposed in "full employment" legislation which the president has sponsored.

Annual Budget Figures Predicted
He predicted that federal budgets of future years would call for about 25 billions annually in government spending, and opposed further tax cuts by estimating that present federal tax laws will bring in only 27 billions annually.

To meet the requirements of the budget, congress was asked to appropriate, reappropriate and authorize approximately 31 billion dollars.

The largest single appropriation, as in recent years, was for the war department—seven billion, 100 million dollars, with the navy requiring four billion, 500 million.

The president viewed the present fiscal period as a "year of transition" during which the end of the war brought major revisions in the government's budget program. He estimated that the 1946 fiscal year, and on June 30 would result in total expenditures of 67 billion, 230 million dollars, and would account for a 28 billion, 600 million dollar increase in the national debt.

Nearly one-third of the budget was listed under the 11 billion dollar item of "aftermath of war" including veterans payments, interest on the debt and tax refunds to individuals and corporations.

Veterans Expenditures
The major expenditures planned for veterans include one billion, 748 millions for pensions; 850 million for unemployment allowances; 220 million to increase this allowance from $20 to $25 a week; 528 million for the Veterans Administration; 535 millions for veterans education; 130 millions for additional veterans hospitals and domiciliary facilities, and 175 million to transfer national life insurance policies to regular policies and continue the coverage.

The government will have to pay out about 800 million dollars as a result of "overwithholding" and "overdeclaration" to individual income taxpayers, while another 750 million will be returned to corporations under present tax laws.

In the field of international finance, the budget provided for American participation in the international bank and monetary control mechanism set up under the Bretton Woods agreements, and for advances of the three billion, 750 million dollar "line of credit" it is proposed to extend to Great Britain.

The president's agricultural program envisioned expenditures of 784 million dollars during the coming fiscal year—120 million more than in the current year. These expenditures are broken down into 553 millions for "aids to agriculture", 35 millions for general public works and 196 millions for other services of the agriculture department.

In addition, the president said the price stabilization, price support and other programs of the Commodity Credit Corporation would increase from 750 millions currently to one billion, 500 million in the coming fiscal year.

The program included 270 millions for the federal AAA program and 270 million for the Rural Electrification Administration, with Farm Security and Farm Credit Administration programs continuing at their present pace.

A Letter to the President of the United States

January 18, 1946

Hon. Harry S. Truman
President of the United States
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. President:

Your proposal to me in Washington last evening that the wage demand of the United Steelworkers of America-CIO be settled on the basis of a wage increase of 18½ cents an hour, retroactive to January 1, 1946, cannot, I regret to say, be accepted by the United States Steel Corporation for the reasons set forth below.

As you must be aware, your proposal is almost equivalent to granting in full the Union's revised demand of a wage increase of 19½ cents an hour, which was advanced by Philip Murray, the President of the Union, at our collective bargaining conference with the Union in New York a week ago today. In our opinion, there is no just basis from any point of view for a wage increase to our steel workers of the large size you have proposed, which, if put into effect, is certain to result in great financial harm not only to this Corporation but also to users of steel in general.

As I have tried to make clear to you and other Government officials during our conferences in Washington over the past few days, there is a limit in the extent to which the Union wage demands can be met by us. We reached that limit when we raised our offer to the Union last Friday from a wage increase of 12½ cents an hour to one of 15 cents an hour. This would constitute the highest single wage increase ever made by our steel-making subsidiaries. Our offer of 15 cents was equivalent to meeting 60% of the Union's original excessive demand of a $2 a day general wage increase. Our offer met 75% of the Union's final proposal of a wage increase of 19½ cents an hour. A wage increase of 15 cents an hour, such as we offered, would increase the direct labor costs of our manufacturing subsidiaries by approximately $60,000,000 a year. That is a most substantial sum, and does not take into account the higher costs we shall have to pay for purchased goods and services, when large wage increases generally become effective throughout American industry, as is inevitable after a substantial increase in steel wages.

As you know, collective bargaining negotiations with the Union broke down at the White House yesterday afternoon, because Mr. Murray then refused to budge from his position that a country-wide steel strike must take place, unless steel workers are granted a general wage increase of 19½ cents an hour. Our offer of a wage increase of 15 cents an hour was again rejected by the Union.

The Union threatened to go ahead with its program for a national steel strike at midnight next Sunday, although such a strike will be a clear violation of the no-strike provision contained in our labor contracts with the Union which continue by their terms until October 15, 1946.

From the outset, we have recognized how injurious a steel strike will be to reconversion and to the economy of this whole country. Most industries are dependent upon a supply of steel for their continued operations. We have done everything reasonably within our power to avert such a strike. If a strike occurs, the responsibility rests with the Union.

When the Government at the eleventh hour informed us about a week ago of its willingness to sanction an increase in steel ceiling prices, we at once resumed collective bargaining negotiations with the Union. Such price action by the Government was a recognition by it of the right of the steel industry to receive price relief because of past heavy increases in costs, something which the steel industry for many months has unsuccessfully sought to establish with OPA.

I should like again to point out some pertinent facts relative to the wages of our steel workers.

Since January, 1941, the average straight-time hourly pay, without overtime, of our steel workers has increased more than the 33% increase in the cost of living during that period, recently computed by Government authorities. Steel workers' wages have kept pace with increased living costs. Such average straight-time pay in our steel-producing subsidiaries was $1.14 an hour in each of the months of September, October and November, 1945, excluding any overtime premium and any amount for correction of possible wage inequities. An increase of 15 cents, in accordance with our offer, would raise such average straight-time pay to $1.29 an hour, placing such pay among the highest today in all of American industry.

Under our offer of a 15 cent increase, the average weekly take-home pay of our steel workers for a forty-hour week would amount to $51.60, assuming that no overtime is involved. This figure is only $4.54 less than the actual average weekly earnings of these employees, including overtime, in the last full war year of 1944, when the average work week was 46.1 hours. The difference is really less, because we will undoubtedly continue to have overtime in the future, just as we have at the present time. In November 1945, overtime premiums to our steel workers aggregated more than $1,300,000. Such reduction of $4.54 in weekly take-home pay is the natural consequence of a shorter work week of forty hours, and therefore one of lower production.

Much as we desire to avoid a steel strike, we cannot overlook the effect both on this Corporation and on our customers and American business in general, of the 18½ cent an hour wage increase, which you have proposed. Such a wage increase must result in higher prices for steel than have previously been proposed to us by the Government. Great financial harm would soon follow for all users of steel who would be obliged to pay higher prices for their steel, higher wages to their employees, and still have the prices for their own products subject to OPA control. Such a high and unjustified wage scale might well spell financial disaster for many of the smaller steel companies and for a large number of steel fabricators and processors. The nation needs the output of these companies. Increased wages and increased prices which force companies out of business can only result in irreparable damage to the American people.

In our judgment, it is distinctly in the public interest to take into account the injurious effect upon American industry of an unjustified wage increase in the steel industry.

After a full and careful consideration of your proposal, we have reached the conclusion above stated.

Respectfully yours,

Benjamin F. Fairless

President, United States Steel Corporation

Will Be Delay In General Use Of New Wonder Drug

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Deputy health secretary, J. Moore Campbell, predicted today there would be a delay before the new wonder drug streptomycin would be used extensively to treat tuberculosis in Pennsylvania.

Simultaneously, Campbell reported indications of a "slight but not marked increase" in the tuberculosis death rate during 1945.

Two years ago 3955 persons died of tuberculosis in the commonwealth while 4033 deaths were recorded in 1943, he added.

Preliminary Success
Two doctors from the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., have reported that preliminary success was achieved in treating tuberculosis with streptomycin.

"Streptomycin is so scarce that you can't get it for love nor money," Campbell said. "Supplies of the drug, as far as I know, have been issued only to certain medical centers for research and study."

He said he believed that Jefferson Medical college at Philadelphia had received a supply of streptomycin for research work.

"So far as the run of the mill doctor is concerned, he hasn't seen streptomycin and it will be some time before he does," Campbell stated. "I know, however, that it has been tried and the results were encouraging."

Campbell said there were approximately 2000 tuberculosis patients at three state sanatoriums located at Hamburg, Mount Alto and Cresson.

The Mayo physicians, who said streptomycin had been successful in some instances where penicillin had failed, reported that they hoped the drug might also prove valuable in combating typhoid fever, bacillary dysentery, bubonic plague and cholera.

Carefully designed storage space can help homemakers do their kitchen work with the least expenditure of time and energy.

Highway Traffic In State Reported As Treacherous

(By International News Service)

Treacherous traffic conditions prevailed throughout Pennsylvania today as the state dug out from a two-inch snow fall.

Numerous highway accidents were reported as automobile and truck tires packed the snow-crust into an icy road coating.

Rain or freezing rain was predicted for the eastern part of the state, while Central Pennsylvania was promised more rain or snow.

Main highways leading into Philadelphia were in better condition than city streets because a high wind whipped the flakes from the roads into fields.

Autos Stalled In Mountains
Many automobiles were reported stalled in the mountains regions, however, and most transportation schedules were knocked out of kilter.

Today's lowest temperature was expected to be 26 in Philadelphia, where the mercury fell to 11 yesterday—the same as in Harrisburg.

The snowfall in the western and central parts of the state was set at two inches, with Philadelphia's snow blanket just a little under that figure.

President's Aid Sought To Bring Relatives To U. S.

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—President Truman's aid was sought today by the father of a dead hero to bring his son's English-born widow and infant child to America.

Leon Duckworth, sanitary engineer for the Lancaster water bureau, told the president that the appeal had been postponed until the army had made plans to bring foreign-born wives of American soldiers to the United States. He is a veteran of World War I.

Duckworth's son, Edmund, was killed in the Normandy invasion after participating in the Tunisian and Sicilian campaigns as a lieutenant.

Five generations of the family will be united if passage for the widow and her 11-month-old son, Duckworth, can be expedited.

The child's great-grandfather, Charles Duckworth, celebrated his 99th birthday in his Newtown home December 6.

Accident Toll Heavy In State Over Weekend

At Least Seven Dead And 14 Others Injured In Various Mishaps

Ice glazed highways, train accidents and fires brought the weekend death toll of Western Pennsylvanians to at least seven, 14 others were injured.

At York Run, Charles Strawn, 70, was burned to death in an attempt to save his wife, Mary, 66, when a fire destroyed their home.

Strawn, apparently not knowing his wife had saved herself by leaping from a second floor window, ran back into the blazing house. His body was later found in the smoldering ruins. Mrs. Strawn suffered a broken leg in the jump.

In Uniontown, 10-year-old Daniel Smiley was fatally burned when his clothing was ignited by an open gas fire in a garage.

Stalled Auto Hit
Edward Hack, 54-year-old Carnegie farmer, was killed and three of his children were injured when their stalled automobile was struck by a crack Pennsylvania Railroad train in Carnegie. His wife, Alice, 38, leaped to safety with her 11-month-old daughter, Margaret, before the crash occurred.

In Pittsburgh, Jack Gregory, 22, of Corapolis, died of injuries sustained when his automobile crashed into a tree, and Arthur C. Bernston, 25, died while being taken to a hospital from injuries suffered when the car in which he was riding crashed into a utility pole.

In McKeesport, two firemen and a civilian were injured in a fire which swept through a three-story frame house. Six families were forced to flee to the street scantily clad.

Louis Wright, his wife, and 17-year-old daughter of West Liberty, were overcome by illuminating gas fumes in their home.

Eva Gunter, 20, suffocated and was found by firemen in her third floor apartment in Pittsburgh.

A Pennsylvania Railroad brakeman, Joseph H. Benden, 50, of Port age, Pa., was found dead of a fractured skull atop a boxcar. A report filed with the coroner said he probably struck his head on a low bridge.

Accidental Shooting
Paul Borland, 12, was taken to the Pittsburgh hospital after suffering a cheek wound in an accidental shooting at the East Liberty YMCA rifle range.

Shot in the back as she left a night club, Inez McGill was taken to a Pittsburgh hospital in a critical condition. She told police she had met an old friend and became involved in an argument with him. She was shot half a block from the night club, but her assailant eluded police.

Elmer Kostyak was shot in the hand, robbed of $25 and had his automobile stolen by two bandits who waylaid him. Police recovered his car.

Fall From Auto Cause Of Death

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Jan. 21.—Injuries suffered in a fall from an automobile caused the death Saturday night in the Providence hospital of Private Leslie Farmer, 33, United States Army, home on a furlough.

Farmer was home on a visit to a cousin, Vernon Little, in Patterson Heights. The two men drove downtown. Little told police, he heard the door of the car open and looked around to see Farmer plunge through the door onto the street. Farmer died of a fractured skull soon after being admitted to the hospital.

Coroner John W. Davis notified the provost marshal in Pittsburgh and the body was taken to the DeShon hospital at Butler. The body then was removed to his former home in Columbiana, O. He leaves his wife and three children.

S-Sgt. Jack Adams Leaves Army Duties

Pacific Veteran Returns With 'Captain Butch' Mascot Of B-24 Crew On Missions

After three years of army life, S-Sgt. W. J. (Jack) Adams, of 605 Court street, has traded his khaki uniform for civilian garb, having received an honorable discharge from the army at Patterson Field, O., January 1.

S-Sgt. Adams, who received his basic training at St. Petersburg, Fla., served in this country 29 months before embarking for overseas duty in the Pacific Theater of Operations. He served as a radio operator on a B-24 with the 307th Bomb group of the 372nd Bomb Squadron of Morotai Island.

While taking advanced training at Boise, Idaho, Jack became attached to a small terrier pup just a few months old and determined that if he "went over", the dog would become part of his equipment. Everything went well until the border of California was reached and some slight of hand work had to be done to get "Butch" across as that state has strict laws concerning dogs. The dog was safely tucked into a small bag and gotten aboard the ship without detection.

"Butch" was officially adopted by the crew of the B-24 on which Adams operated, and was given the rank of captain by the members, the dog proudly displaying its captain bars on his collar made of a parachute harness. He is officially credited with having flown 350 to 400 hours on the plane and witnessed many of the outstanding battles of the Pacific. Sgt. Adams was able to bring "Captain Butch" back home with him.

Sgt. Adams who returned with the Air Medal, Asiatic-Pacific Ribbon, Victory Ribbon, Good Conduct Medal, American Theater Ribbon, Philippine Liberation Ribbon and four battle stars brought with him many souvenirs of his trip. Among these are 21 short snorter bills, the club of which Jack is an official member, a Japanese officer's Samurai sword, a Japanese rifle and bayonet, Japanese 5.9 pistol, equivalent to an American 25.

Sgt. Adams' brother, George P. (Cam) Adams, was killed June 12, 1945, on Mindora Island, Maritima Field, when their plane was taking off for Balikpapan, Borneo. He is the son of Mrs. Myrtle Adams of 605 Court street.

HINTS TO HELP MAKE SLEEVES EASY TO FIT

To the women who make her own clothes, sleeves probably are her biggest problem, out with just a little extra attention and caution she can easily solve it.

Garments today have smooth shoulders, extended out to the end of the shoulder bone or slightly beyond it, from which point the sleeves hang straight. To look right these sleeves must have no fullness but smoothly cover the padded shoulder. Sleeves must be put in so the straight thread of the material hangs straight from the tip of the shoulder to the elbow when the arm hangs at the side.

Follow the sleeve pattern directions accurately. Lengthen the stitch on the sewing machine, then stitch on the seam line around the top of the sleeve between the notches. Pin the sleeve in the armhole, matching notches and shoulder. The sleeve measures one or two inches larger than the armhole and some women cut the sleeve off at the top to remove the fullness. This is a serious mistake.

To take out this fullness, pull one of the threads of the machine stitching until the sleeves fit smoothly in the armhole. The fullness can be distributed evenly so no gathers will show when the sleeves are stitched on. When stitching, have the sleeve toward you and see that no little pleats of fullness are stitched in. Fullness in wool may be shrunk out by turning the sleeve wrong side out, fitting it over the end of the sleeve board, and steaming it.

Adjust sleeve pads having them extend a half inch into the armhole. Normally they are placed about evenly front to back of shoulder, but may be adjusted to suit the figure.

Proves Blind Are Far From Helpless; Is Business Success

55-Year-Old Pittsburgh Man Has Flourishing Business Despite Blindness

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—"The blind are not helpless."

Such is the belief of sightless R. J. Zeigler, of West View, and his words are no idle fancy—he proves it.

The 55-year-old former city fireman independently handles 15,000 orders a year for mops, brooms, brushes and other household items.

In his flourishing business, Zeigler does all his selling by telephone, using an elastic telephone holder—which he designed and built—and which leaves his hands free to operate his Braille typewriter.

Uses Braille System
His files contain 19,000 phone numbers and each has a card with Braille notations. He calls his steady customers every six months.

Zeigler's chief concern these days is the return of sightless war veterans. He said:

"They mustn't feel that they have to look forward to standing on street corners with tin cups. They can live normal lives without asking special consideration of anybody."

He added:

"I wish that any blind veteran who despairs of ever being independent and normal would let me know. I'll do my best to convince him that he's all wrong."

He scoffs at those who say the old can't learn, saying:

"I learned Braille just two years ago. Right now I'm teaching it to an 84-year-old woman."

St. Luke's Church Sponsors Concert

Program Will Be Presented January 25 In First Christian Church Here

St. Luke's A. M. E. Zion church, Elm street, under the auspices of young people of the Christian Education department of which Mrs. William Mitchell is district director will present its annual mid-winter concert Friday evening, Jan. 25, at 8 o'clock, in the First Christian church, on the Diamond.

These programs are conducted each year for the sole purpose of raising funds to support the following schools for underprivileged Negro boys and girls: Livingstone college, Rock Hill, S. C.; Clinton college, Rock Hill, S. C.; Lomax Hannon college, Greenville, Ala.; Johnson Rural High school, Zulu, Miss.; Walters Southern institute, Lexa, Ark.; Atkinson college, Madisonville, Ky.; Dinwiddie Normal and Industrial school, Dinwiddie, Va.

These schools have no other means of financial support but must rely solely upon money contributed yearly by the local churches to mold the lives of thousands of boys and girls who otherwise would be neglected.

The local committee in charge of the concert has secured two well-known Negro choruses, the Humble Five, of Pittsburgh, and the William-Gospel chorus, of Youngstown. Each chorus is composed of 24 voices. A complete program of Negro spirituals, chants and other music, relating to the Negro race, will be offered.

IN THE OPEN

We quartered across the hillside, straight into the teeth of a bitter cold which congealed every whisker in the stubble on my chin. I had forgotten the muffler which keeps my ears happy. Before we crossed the ridge and entered the comparative quiet of a stand of second-growth timber my face ached with the numbing cold and I felt certain each new blast would blow those unhappy ears right off my head. In the surprising warmth and protection of the timber we soon forgot the agony of the wind-swept open fields.

After Unwary Fox

My two companions each carried a powerful small bore rifle, with an eye to picking off an unwary fox, found asleep in some covert on the southern fagins. I carried my usual walking stick, and went along for the "ride," with an eye to good hunting of my own variety in the January countryside.

We soon traversed the wooded section and came into an upland pasture, dotted thickly with cockspur thorn. The dairy herd which pastures here has been in charge of pruning these spiny trees and the result is a sight to behold. Old Bossy and her sisters have carefully nibbled off the tender new growth, shaping some of the thorn trees into hedge balls, and others into various pyramidal forms. An occasional tree has outraced the bovine pruning shears and has spread out at the top, achieving a tightly leaved effect reminiscent of the Gay-Nineties.

We varied away from the orange orange hedge and crossed a wooded tangle of wild grape and small growth, passing through a thick stand of dead pokeweed. A lone cardinal grosbeak flew into one of the wild grape "wigwags." This was the only bird I noted during the afternoon. We passed by a medium sized tree which had the general appearance of an elm, but whose bark was deeply furrowed into corky warty ridges. I was pleased to identify this tree as the hackberry, or sugarberry tree, comparatively rather rare in this part of the country.

We came to the far limit of the circling ramble and tacked once more into the wind on the homeward reach. So far we had sighted nary a fox, nor for that matter any other four-footed creature of the wild. My ears began to grumble again as the seeking wind came out of the deep freeze lockers of the north. We divided forces and "drove" both sides of an old-field valley, stepping high through some blackberry patches that will bear inspection next July or August.

Huge Cucumber Tree
A huge cucumber tree, perhaps three feet through at the base, guarded the next fence-row passage. We came out into an open field and followed along the ridge, taking severe punishment from the continuing gale. A fat cotton-tail rabbit jumped out of his "form" in the orange grass, and bounded away to cover in the nearby thicket. I was surprised to find this rabbit sitting out in the open, directly in the path of a January gale. My ears felt bad enough, and I could not help but wonder how those big ears of his were doing.

We halted for a moment at a cherry thicket to search for coconuts of the wild cherry moth, pocketing a few choice specimens. Then we came out to the highway and were soon toasting our shins and warming up the interior with good hot coffee. The thermometer on the back porch read just 28 degrees.

The conversation got around to Indian artifacts and I was shown a box of arrowheads. There were also a flint scraper and a broken piece of a stone hatchet. This area was once the site of a large Indian settlement, and Indian graves have been discovered here. After the Spring rains I plan an arrowhead hunt across the site of the old encampments. Perhaps I'll even come across a fox.

Pitt Panthers Top Westminster 59-50

Crowd Of Over 3,000 See Pitt Come From Behind To Snap Titan Streak

Heartbreaking Setback For Westminster, Heddleston-Nelson Stars

(By News Staff Writer)

FARRELL HIGH GYM, Jan. 19.—With bulldozing determination an apparently hopelessly defeated Pitt University Panther basketball team, turned on a hard-fighting Westminster College Titan quintet here tonight and walked off with a 59 to 50 victory before an estimated crowd of over 3,000 fans, in a dazzling last period drive.

Westminster paced by the clever accurate shooting of Don "Strak" Heddleston and big blond Dean Nelson, held what looked like a safe lead as the third period closed 46 to 39, but with Chester "Slats" Dembinski leaping on five persons, a foul not a minute after the fourth period began, the Grover Washbaugh coached machine seemed to have lost a valuable car in the organization, and simply finished in a demoralized state being held to four points for the entire last stanza.

Title Hopes Glimmering
The defeat snapped a five-game winning streak of the Titans, and the fifth straight win for a Pitt team that has lost only to Ohio State since the season began. Besides the defeat will probably end the dream Westminster had of repeating this year as Tri-State District champions, providing the Dr. Carlson juggernaut can keep up his sensational play, having disposed of Penn State and Westminster in its last two showings.

Pitt's victory atoned for the setback that Westminster gave them in 1945 at the same gym, by a 68-47 score, although Pitt won at Pittsburgh in the second meeting last year.

David-Malarkey Stars
It was a couple of Pitt freshmen Gerald "Pat" Malarkey and Sammy David, both from Bridgeville, Pa., that spelled defeat for the Titans. Both David and Malarkey subbing for regulars piled in 14 points as the "Black Cats" pulled up even with Westminster at 40-40 about midway in the fourth period, and then proceeded to administer the "coup de grace" with lightning like rapidity the Titans never getting in front again.

With Pitt leading 54 to 50 Chris Wagner captain of the Westminster team was chased with five personals and Dean Nelson who had been replaced by Jay Cochran, went back in, but it was no use. Pitt was not to be denied a victory in the few minutes, "freezing the ball" with a minute and a half left and leading 57 to 50. Two fouls for Pitt one by Medich and one by David made it 59 to 50 just seconds before the battle ended.

Titans Grab Lead
At the outset of the game Westminster jumped away to an 8 to 1 lead in what looked like a runaway, with six minutes of the first period gone the Titans led 19 to 3. The first period ended with the Blue and White clads ahead 15 to 9.

Pitt closed the gap fast in the second period, with four minutes gone in the quarter the Pitt team took the lead for the first time when veteran Hank Zellars made a field goal, then Dembinski shot a foul for Westminster tying the count at 21-21. The lead see-sawed back and forth in the final minutes of the first half, with Pitt ahead 27 to 25 as the half came to a close.

Big Third Period
The third period turned out to be the biggest scoring session of the game, with 33 points being run up, 21 by Westminster and 12 for Pitt. From a 31-31 deadlock soon after the third period started, the Westminster team led by Nelson, Dembinski and Heddleston soon ran the count to 37 to 33.

With four minutes left in the session the Titans had a 39 to 33 lead, and with the period ending the Titans had a 46 to 36 lead when Heddleston's sensational side shot rang true. Malarkey dumped in a field goal and foul for Pitt as the period closed, making it 46 to 39. What happened in the last period has already been mentioned.

Poor Foul Tossing
In passing out bouquets for sensational playing in the battle tonight, we have to mention Don "Strak" Heddleston with the most field goals in the game, Chester "Slats" Dembinski, and Dean Nelson, along with those scoring twins David and Malarkey.

In the foul tossing department neither team was up to par, the Titans flipped in 12 out of 21, with the Panthers caging 17 out of 31. A total of 52 fouls were called in the contest.

Russo's Arm Operated Upon

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The New York Yankees were cheered today by a bulletin from John Hopkins hospital in Baltimore that Marius Russo, their star southpaw pitcher of pre-war days, had undergone a successful operation for removal of bone chips on his left elbow.

Physicians said that barring complications, Russo will have recovered sufficiently to go to training camp with the team next month.

Chicago Bears Sign Schneider

LANCASTER, Pa. Jan. 21.—(INS)—Don Schneider, former Lancaster High school grid star now with the University of Pennsylvania team, today was under wing of the Chicago Bears in the National Professional Football league.

ST. LUCY'S WINS
The St. Lucy quintet defeated St. Michaels at the Catholic Center, floor 42 to 11 with Mangino and Dattilo starring for the winners. Jurina was best for the losers.

Burgess Whitehead Signs With Pirates

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Pittsburgh Pirate manager Frankie Frisch today added another cog to his machinery for 1946 when the signing of veteran second sacker Burgess Whitehead.

Frisch considers the experienced keystone performer a strong candidate for the second base berth. Whitehead came to the Pirates in 1942 but never had a chance to put on a Blue uniform after a hand injury put him out of commission. He entered the army later that year.

Frisch also announced the signing of infielder Jimmy Cullinane, purchased from the Albany club in the Eastern league in 1943. He was discharged after serving three years with the Navy Air Force.

Sacred Hearts Handed Surprise By Second U. P.

Inspired Second U. P. Team Lays 49 To 19 Defeat On Hearts, McGary-Pitzer Stars

HEARTS EPWORTH TIED FOR LEAD

An inspired Second U. P. quintet really "turned on the heat" Saturday night at the "Y" in a New Castle church league game, and as a result swamped the Sacred Hearts under a 49 to 19 avalanche of field goals, to cause a first half tie deadlock between the Hearts and Epworth, each with one defeat.

The Second U. P. team paced by Bob Pitzer and Johnny McGary, who had 39 of the 49 points between them, led at the half 19 to 10. The Hearts simply could not break thru the Second U. P. defense. Joe Cooper being the only man to score consistently, getting 10 points.

Pitzer-McGary Stars
The Dick Davis coached machine jumped into a lead of 11 to 5 at the first period and never let up. Pitzer had 19 points and McGary 20 to be the outstanding stars in the battle, which had been postponed from the earlier date by the "flu". The entire Second team deserves credit for a splendid showing.

In the preliminary game the Ellwood City Shelby Socials continued their domination over the Epworth team of the church league by repeating their win at Ellwood City on Thursday night, this time by a 58 to 39 count, with Luxemburg and Gottuso starring with 14 points apiece.

Eddie Nahas was best in the Epworth lineup with seven points. Epworth led at the half 21 to 20.

Giants Buy Rookie Still In Army And Causing Concern

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Secretary Eddie Brannick of the New York Giants today was a puzzled and worried man.

It seems that the Giants have given $25,000 and four unnamed players to Minneapolis for an all-around rookie player named Clinton Hartung who is supposed to be the greatest home run hitter to come along the pike since Babe Ruth.

The Giants have been awaiting Hartung's discharge from the army. What is worrying Brannick is that Hartung now is reported to have signed up for all things. Hartung is currently stationed at Honde Field in Texas.

ON a prow for news, other than that concerning boxers, baseball players, gliders and basketballers here & there recently met Jim Hodge, student of nature at Harlansburg who relayed some of his late observations. For instance, he reports frogs have not "bedded down" deep in mud, worms can be found at the top of Mother Earth, both ends of caterpillars are black, fox are rampant and it is not unusual to see a buck accompanied by does along the Slippery Rock creek and on nearby farm lands. During the warm spell ice which froze in a small pond melted and Hodge said he could see the frogs. Their rear legs were hunched beneath their stomach and their front legs protruded out of the mud. The next day the frogs were hopping into and out of the pond. He said a kick turned over some earth and worms were plentiful. Peering through a telescope at surrounding territory he saw a red fox on a hill surveying territory and later a buck and does. Does the black on both ends of a caterpillar at this time of year imply anything? We inquired of Hodge and also Paul McBride of Volant district who was present. "Some weather forecasters claim it tokens a coming severe spell," Hodge replied, then added "but I wouldn't say it holds true always." Jim said that nightly dogs were running fox. He also reported that fox are very difficult to trap. There is a bounty on the vermin.

To Glenn Wilson, Ellwood City, R. D. 1, just back from the army: The man to whom you talked on the bus was correct. If you telephone the writer (Ed Fritz) will give you the information you desire and also assist you in your plans. George (Rocky) Lewis after having been in Cleveland and Chicago is now at Miami Beach. Williams Grove, Pa., Speedway will operate April 14, according to Roy Richwine, owner. Mark Duddy is training hard for his coming January 28 bout. Dick Gray, 18 years old passing star for Oregon, had ill luck in his first basketball game. He suffered a broken ankle. When Tommy Jones entered the ring to referee for the first time he did likewise.

Raymond Rover, Wampum, submits a communication as follows: "You hear much about the damage foxes are supposed to be doing to small game in Lawrence County, such as rabbits. You seem to agree on this. Did you ever think how many rabbits are killed on the highway by cars and also by uncontrolled dogs and cats; also some sportsmen who blame the fox but who don't think anything about shooting more than the limit? At least, the fox has enough sense to eat enough just to keep him alive but can you say that for some hunters who shoot a lot of rabbits then leave game waste? If the rabbit was as good a game animal as the fox to hunt and the fox killed a lot of rabbits then would be some reason to blame the fox." In our opinion the fox is vermin. Sportsmen report there are too many. However, Here & There will agree with Mr. Rover that, sorry to say, there are some hunters who do not deserve the name of 'Sportsman'. Some have been known to have killed the limit of rabbits in the morning, divided them with hunting companions then killed more in the afternoon. There are also some who go into the deer country and steal other hunters' bucks. They are not sportsmen.

Ellwood Idle Tuesday Night

Aliquippa Contest Moved Ahead; Will Meet New Castle Here Friday Night

Ellwood City's Wolverines will be idle in Section III basketball play Tuesday night, since the scheduled Aliquippa game has been moved ahead to February 22.

The Blue and White were listed in Saturday's News as battling New Castle here Tuesday night, but that contest will get under way Friday night at the George Washington gym, being switched from the Ellwood field to the local setting.

Find Going Rough
The Gals men have found the going rough this year, coping only their opener from the Beaver Falls Tigers, and losing consecutive this to Ambridge, Sharon, Farrell and New Brighton.

The Tube City quint has the leading scorer in the section in big Joe Dougherty, their stat-studded center, one of the best tip-off men in the loop. However, the Wolverine back line seems to be in a bind, and with this "crazy" box play, Coach Gills and Wallace have been racking their brains trying to find a combination that displays a little more punch and get someone on the brink line that can abate Dougherty's fine performances.

Play Close Games
Despite their poor record on the result sheets, the Wolves are no push-over for any team in the league, having lost heart-breakers to Farrell, Ambridge, and New Brighton. These contests could have gone either way. Only Sharon's Tigers could really shove across a comfortable margin of points against the Tubers.

Friday's New Castle affair will not have any bearing on titular aspirations for both teams are out of the running, but the tradition and rivalry behind this scrap makes it a sell-out weeks before the two fives pose themselves for the evening tip-off.

Roster Of Pirates Biggest In History

Frankie Frisch Has 65 Players Signed Up For Tryouts On 1946 Team

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday announced the 1946 roster of Frankie Frisch's changes—the largest collection of athletes in the club's history.

A total of 65 players are included in the list of Bucs who will sail into the National League pennant race.

Returning servicemen make up more than half of the new roster which faces Frisch with the problem of choosing regulars from a strong pre-season aggregate of 28 pitchers, seven catchers, 16 infielders and 14 outfielders.

Wampum Faces Stern Battle At Bessemer

Section 20 Leaders Oppose Cementers In Top Fray At Bessemer Gym Tuesday

Bessemer high school's Cementers face the not-so-pleasant task of trying to halt the cyclonic sweep of the terrific Wampum Indians Tuesday night at the Bessemer gym in the top-drawer basketball clash of the night in Section XX.

This assignment has proved too tough for Princeton, Mt. Jackson, Union, Shenango and East Brook, and the Chiefs have had the advantage in their schedule, in that they could sharpen their weapons against the weaker fives and then unload their artillery at the serious contenders in "spot" contests.

Cementers Tough
Bill Cironce's quint has been going all right for themselves so far in the new dumping Princeton Union, East Brook and New Wilmington, while stumbling their big test against Shenango. The Cementers virtually eliminated the New Wilmington Greyhounds Friday night as they posted their victory.

Cironce has a good one-two punch in Donaldson at forward and big "Bones" Nelson at the tip-off spots, that will give Wampum's Eddie Marich and Joe Capelbo a run for their money.

Should the snap-hungry Indians amaze his way, however, they will be almost a sure bet to walk up and take the toga. The clash would pack in a record crowd at the Bessemer floor.

Other Fives Busy
Swinging the spotlight around the circuit we find that Mt. Jackson and East Brook have moved their Tuesday night tilt up to tonight, meeting on the East Brook boards. Luckless Union invades the Shenango Wildcat den, and the Cats must win to keep within distance of the swift Wampum club. As the race now stands it is three-way between the Indians, Bessemer and the Nanas men.

New Wilmington, seeing her hopes for a repeat championship go a-slithering in the Bessemer defeat, last Friday, entertains the Princeton foppers to round out the card for the night.

The pressure is on the top-flight clubs and as the race nears the halfway point it looks as though the remaining games will be nothing short of official mayhem. The quintet that emerges the winner will know that they have indeed been through some battles.

WILDCATS DEFEAT A. Z. A.
The Wildcat A. C. basketball team paced by J. Campbell with 26 points, and C. Andrews with 14, defeated the A. Z. A. team at the Temple floor Sunday 60 to 33. Best in the Jewish lineup was Alper and S. Cohen.

Shaughnessy Keeps Pitt Guessing As To His Whereabouts

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21.—(INS)—Pitt football coach Clark Shaughnessy Saturday was among the missing again.

He reported to his office on the University of Pittsburgh campus and within an hour disappeared. It was rumored that he planned to spend the week-end in the nation's capital.

The Panther mentor was non-committal on reports of his ouster from the resignation of Dad DeWolfe, head coach of the Washington Redskins. Shaughnessy is head advisory coach for George Marshall's Indians.

Bessemer Expects Capacity Attendance

Wampum Will Play At Bessemer Tuesday, Before Packed House, Indicated

BESSEMER, Jan. 21.—Bessemer High's basketball court will be bulging at the sides Tuesday evening, no doubt when the famous Wampum undefeated in Section XX Indians invade this city for a tilt with the Bessemer High Cementers.

Principal Chandler McMillin, of Bessemer said today: "The preliminary game will get under way at 7 o'clock between the reserve teams of Bessemer and Wampum, and by game time there will not be any seats or standing room available."

Get There Early
Fans are urged to get there early tomorrow night if they desire a seat. The Bessemer gym holds between 400 and 500, with a majority standing, it was understood.

This is the game that Bessemer wants to win and must win to stay in the section fight. Coach William Cironce has his Bessemer team primed for this important set-to, and so does Coach Butler Hennon who has the Indians ready to go on the warpath looking for Bessemer's scalp.

New Castle High flippers are going to be busy as bees, this week, being called on to face New Brighton here Tuesday night in another sectional fust and Ellwood City will be here Friday night owing to a change in the schedule. New Castle was originally carried at Ellwood for Friday night on the schedule, but will go there on February 12th instead.

Should New Castle win all three games this week, it would put them above the 500 mark, with four wins and three defeats. Here's hoping.

Second Half Of Clothing Drive Begins

Officials Of Collection Say That Second Half Of Drive Will Be Hardest

This week ends the first half of the Victory Clothing Collection in the county. How do we stand? If we are going to meet our quota we should have collected some 42,000 articles. Well, we are just about holding our own. When the complete check is made we will probably have about that many articles. Everyone knows that the first half of a drive is the easiest. The next two weeks is the critical period. Think this point over and if you have not made a donation yet, make a complete search of your home for a few pieces of wearing apparel that you can spare.

Dire Need

It should not be necessary to try to convince you that there is a need, a dire and urgent need. If you have listened to the radio and read newspaper and magazine articles, you have been informed about these ill-clad persons and their appalling want overseas.

If you are still not convinced, talk to the returned veteran who has fought in Italy, Holland, Belgium, France, China, the Philippines and Korea. He has seen these destitute millions after the cyclone of war has passed over them. He can illustrate how urgent the need is for all kinds of clothing, including shoes and bedding materials.

Must Not Quit Now

We must not slacken our interest now. The next 15 days will be the most important. Decide now to aid the people who are giving their time, effort and spirit to reach the goal of 85,000 articles of clothing.

It is through sympathy for the suffering and needy peoples of the earth that the women and men, girls and boys, have freely volunteered to give some of their time and effort to this clothing collection and make Lawrence county come through in magnificent style during the drive.

Let's encourage them by really putting this drive over the top.

State Farm Show Opens On Tuesday

Vanguard Of 5000 Farmers To Attend Arriving In Harrisburg During Day

HARRISBURG, Jan. 21.—(INS)—The vanguard of 5000 Pennsylvania farmers swept into Harrisburg today for the 30th annual State Farm Show which opens a three-day session Tuesday.

Several hundred officers of Agricultural association were slated to confer today prior to launching what farmers expected to be the last show free of the colorful displays that marked the exposition in past years.

Twenty-seven farm organizations have scheduled meetings during the three-day meeting to be highlighted tomorrow evening with addresses by Gov. Edward Martin and Dean William I. Myers, of Cornell University's agricultural college.

Much Concerned

State Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst said preliminary conferences with farm leaders indicated they were much concerned with agriculture's place in the post war era in view of the economic unrest apparent today.

A musical review featuring the songs of war years will follow the speeches tomorrow night. A chorus recruited from farm boys and girls in 28 counties will be featured along with choral clubs representing the army air forces at Olmsted Field near Harrisburg, the navy at the Mechanicsburg Naval Supply Depot and Army Services Forces Depot at New Cumberland.

Wednesday night the Aberdeen-Angus Breeders association has been slated to convene to hear Louis Bromfield, author and proponent of a back-to-the-farm trend. The State Dairymen's association was scheduled to hold a simultaneous meeting to hear an address by Dr. Roger Corbet, secretary of the American Farm Bureau federation.

Other meetings listed included the Future Farmers of America, the Society of Farm Women, the Crop Improvement society, the Country Life association, the Horticultural association and organizations representing swine breeders, nut growers, livestock breeders, bee keepers, poultrymen, potato growers, Christmas tree and turkey growers.

Parachuting Army Nurse Is Located After Several Hours

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 21.—(INS)—Searching parties today found an army nurse, missing for hours, after she parachuted with an army pilot from an airplane lost in a snowstorm over Pottstown.

The nurse, Lieut. Sue Roberts, was found suffering from a fracture of the right leg, on the farm of Francis J. Hogenmiller, at Pughtown, five miles south of Pottstown.

Lt. Col. William B. Kyes of Pittsburgh hung from a tree for several hours before his cries for assistance were heard by a farm boy at Nantmeal village, 10 miles south of Pottstown. He was uninjured.

The pair was enroute to the army air base at New Castle Del., from the Greater Pittsburgh base. The wreckage of the trainer ship still has not been located.

Salvation Army Sends Articles Needed In Europe

Thread, needles and buttons, articles much-needed in war-ravaged Holland, were all in the box which the local Salvation Army corps shipped to Holland last week. The articles were contributed by women of the corps' Home League.

The members of the league are also taking part in an essay contest, submitting articles on the subject "If I Had a Million". The essays will be judged by a divisional Home League Secretary Ida Mora.

Clothing for a five-year-old child is being sent to Europe by the corps. The box is now complete except for a snow suit for a child of that age.

ARSONISTS ARE OUT OF LUCK

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—(INS)—There's practically no place for the professional arsonist in the nation's postwar picture, according to Horace McMullin, Chicago manager of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. McMullin said:

"Merchants can move almost anything they have in stock, so there's no profit in incendiaryism for insurance."

"As for the home owner, he's out in the street because of the housing shortage if he sets fire to his home."
